

How to get the PLC editor?

If you have not yet downloaded the latest GenConfig version, then please do it from ComAp homepage. You find it when you go this way:

Download PLC editor software

Once you have the latest GenConfig on your computer you can use PLC Editor in Trial mode which demonstrates full capabilities of the new editor. After 30 days, if not activated, PLC Editor is switched to legacy mode – line editor as you knew it in the past.

Then it takes only 2 more steps to get and use your Full version of PLC Editor:

1. step – Answer a couple of simple questions in the survey on ComAp page
2. step – Complete the switching on by entering the activation code:
When you finish the installation and run GenConfig, please click in menu on Help / Activate PLC Editor and record the number shown there (see picture). You will need this number to complete the 2nd step.
